Join us for a special summer program for children and older adults together

Mon July 30 – Fri August 3, 2012

9 AM – 12 PM

at the Stow Council on Aging
380 Great Road, Stow, MA

This program is intended for children entering grades 4-6 and adults over the age of 55*. (It's perfect for grandchildren and grandparents!)*

Gardner's Garden is based on the award-winning Bridges intergenerational program. In Gardner's Garden, children and seniors will have fun getting to know one another as they share about their lives and work on cool projects together. Participants will explore Howard Gardner's "How We Are Smart" Multiple Intelligence Theory.

Gardner's Theory and gardening will come alive through:

- Hands-on art, music and science projects
- Lively discussions
- A variety of outdoor activities including a field trip to a local farm

Through this program, each person – both old and young – will discover how he or she is smart! The program will be led by experienced Bridges Together staff.

Child Participant: The registration fee is $125. Sibling discounts & scholarships are available.
Adult Participant: The registration fee is $5 per day. You may sign up for the 1) entire week OR 2) Monday, Wednesday & Friday OR 3) Tuesday, Thursday & Friday.
All adults will be CORIed.

For more information or to register, contact: Alysson Toole, COA Director, at 978-897-1880.
